Price: 1.00 $

Taking down a 30' run of roofing on both sides of house. Panels are 15'3". There's also some shorter pieces in the same color coming down from a porch shed roof, not pictured.

We're doing a second story with a different roof plane, so can't re-use. These are probably <10 years old. No problems with them whatsoever. They'll just have some pre-drilled holes :-).

Our contractor will be bringing them down by the end of September. Just getting a feel for interest right now. Ideally, we would coordinate to have your trailer here for them to load panels onto and you drive off.

Haven't researched what a reasonable price is just yet, so taking offers at this point. Prioritizing motivation and ability to haul off pain-free over the highest bidder. Let me know if you're interested, and if I can answer any questions. Thanks!
